

About this resource

This can be a warm-up game to get learners chatting and people choose sides and they don't have to offer any opinion on their choice, or it can start a discussion and be extended. For example, give two reasons why being a pen is better than a pencil.

They can be read out by a teacher or put in a hat or they can be printed out on separate pieces of paper and used as paired Q and A activity.

They can also begin a longer discussion or start a written piece of text.

- ...lose your legs or your arms?
- ...be a pen or a pencil?
- ...your clothes always be too big or too small?
- ...be on your own forever or always be surrounded by annoying people?
- ...be feared by all or loved by all?
- ...be invisible or be able to fly?
- ...have millions of pounds or live forever?
- ...die in 20 years with no regrets or die in 50 years with many regrets?
- ...be transported 500 years in the future or 500 years in the past?
- ...go to jail for a crime you haven't committed or commit a crime and live with it forever?
- ...always be 10 minutes late or 10 minutes early?
